New CEO for Hope Healthcare

Mark Newton was appointed as Hope Healthcare's new Chief Executive Officer, commencing in June. Mark is an economist by training and is a career health services and hospital manager with a background in various senior management roles in the fields of psychiatric, acute and community care, including with the National Health Service in the UK, NSW Health, the Australian Red Cross Blood Service and most recently as the CEO of the Department of Ageing, Disability and Home Care's Hunter Residences.

Mark is delighted that his new role with Hope Healthcare will allow him the opportunity to integrate his professional career with his Christian faith. Mark was especially attracted to Hope Healthcare's mission, 'To show the love of Jesus Christ to those in need of Healthcare services.'

Mark says he is happy to now be part of the team at Hope Healthcare and plans to make a significant contribution to the tremendous work being done in the care of the people who Hope Healthcare are here to help. His first months will be spent getting to know the organisation and determining the priorities in taking the organisation forward.
